

CPD FOR GRADUATE DENTISTS

Welcome

Introduction

Continuing Professional Development (CPD) is essential for the maintenance of dentists' knowledge and skills and underpins safe clinical practice. We recognise that in most countries this is delivered in an informal structure.

Currently, there is no harmonisation on the 'essential' content or the regulation of CPD for graduate dentists in the EU. A core purpose of this EU funded study is to identify and agree CPD requirements for all EU graduate dentists. This survey is the first step in this process and is your opportunity to put forward your views and recommendations on this important topic.

We appreciate that CPD systems and requirements vary considerably from country to country. If any of these questions do not allow you to fully explain the situation in your country, or any of your responses require further explanation or clarification, we would be very grateful if you could please comment in the text box at the end of the survey (Q.18). Many thanks in anticipation.

The survey is easy to complete and should take about 15 minutes of your time.

The survey will close on 19th December 2010
